Step 1

Unpack the GLAZ screen protector and the attachments.

Now use the alcohol wipe to clean your device. Grate thoroughly over the front and the edges. Especially if you have a brand new device, please clean it very thoroughly.

Then use the microfibre cloth to polish the display.

Step 2

Take off one of the Dust absorbers and go over the display with the adhesive side. Repeat this step until the display is clear of any dust. Now make sure that you don't touch the screen with your fingers!

Step 3

Place the applicator with the button holes down and push down until it is firmly seated on the unibody. You now see the elevations at the corners from above. These are used for the exact installation of the screen protector. Check again if the display is dust-free.

Step 4

Now remove the screen protector slowly and carefully from the plastic card.

Since the screen protector for the iPhone X is very thin, it can bend and warp too hastily. Please pull it off slowly and with little pressure.

Step 5

Now place the screen protector in the applicator by attaching it to the sensors and then attaching it completely.

Step 6

Orient yourself to a faultless attachment to the earpiece so that it can be seen correctly in the recess of the screen protector. Then put on the screen protector and press it down with light pressure. Use the fingers or the plastic tile to flick the bubbles aside. If the screen protector fits perfectly, you can remove the applicator.

Procedure for bubbles:

You can edit bubbles with a pen over the twice folded microfibre cloth. If it's very stubborn bubbles, so heat the surface with a hair dryer. Please be patient with stubborn bubbles! They usually disappear by themselves.
